Tony Schiena, a name synonymous with the intelligence sector, counter terrorism training, counter human trafficking, security for conflict areas and martial arts or more succinctly defensive tactics for special forces operators.

A former veteran of the African intelligence and paramilitary community, Tony Schiena is the founder of MosFed (Human Slavery) www.humanslavery.com and currently the CEO of MOSAIC, a defense intelligence company www.mosaicsec.com, that operates in hostile environments as well as the major commercial centers of the world.

Tony has been a sought-after expert voice by CNN, FOX News, CBC, BBC, ABC and various other networks on the subject of terrorism and espionage, ISIS as well as modern-day slavery. Tony is on ICAC (Internet Crimes Against Children) Federal Task Force as well as Senior Advisor to National White Collar Crime Center (NW3C).

Tony dedicates a lot of time to fighting one of the greatest evils facing society today, sex trafficking of children through The Mosaic Federation, co-founded in UK with the head of Intelligence for Scotland Yard. Schiena has spoken at the United Nations, the Vatican, the House of Lords, House of the President of India, G20 (Women) conference in Paris, government panels in Pakistan and Dubai as well as various other prestigious political platforms on human trafficking.

Schienna created the Human Slavery Expose with CNN that had filmmakers around the world create one minute films about human slavery in their own environments. The expose judging board is led by legendary Quincy Jones and the expose is featured on CNN.

Tony Schiena has been embedded with law enforcement in various capacities. He has given specialist instruction to the New York Police Department, South African Police Force, Indianapolis Police Department, Merced County Sheriff Department and SWAT team (during which he operated as team leader of a National Sheriff Associations special operations team for the program "The Sheriff") as well as various military and government agencies including NATO forces and private military in Iraq, special forces groups in Kabul and northern Afghanistan, Cambodian special forces, French Foreign Legion, Afghan National Army CID (in Mazar e Sharif Afghanistan), etc.
